Why Seek Testing?

- To learn more about your strengths and weaknesses
- To gain information helpful in creating your therapy goals
- To better understand your struggles
- To learn about your personality, how you see the world, and how you relate to others
- To discover your career interests and goals
- To know whether academic accommodations are appropriate for you
When we hear the term “test” or “assessment,” we generally reminisce of the various evaluations we underwent by the hands of our school teachers. For some, the idea of being tested can be anxiety provoking. However, fear not—there are no grades! Our lives are one big puzzling roadmap. Assessment is what therapists use to put the pieces of our life’s roadmap together. Testing reveals the completed puzzle—it shows where you’ve travelled from, the route you are on, what type of traveler you are, and how to adjust your route to reach your desired destination. Here at Regent University’s Psychological Services Center, we offer two main forms of assessment—career and psychological.

Career Assessments
These types of tests measure clients’ values, interests, and vocational preferences in order to inform decisions related to occupational or academic strivings.

Psychological Assessment
Psychological measures generally examine aspects of the individual’s intelligence, emotional functioning, behavior, personality, and achievement in order to answer the various questions clients may have.

---

Methods of Assessment

Assessment Intake—This initial interview is an 90 minute session in which your service provider will gather general information about your life. $30.00

Best Options:

Full Battery—includes measures of intelligence, achievement, and personality. Additionally, other tests may be added to answer your specific questions more fully with no added charge. $325.00

Executive Profile—includes measures of intelligence, achievement, personality, emotional functioning, and career values and interests. $200.00

Other Options:

Individual Tests—Certain tests, for very simple questions, may be administered individually. Prices are dependent upon the specific test. $10.00-100.00

Career Battery—includes a test of personality and several other measures of career interests, values, and vocational preference. $45.00

Please discuss further pricing options with your Service Provider.