Regent University School of Law
BLSA Leadership Award

In recognition of the achievements of the Regent Law Black Law Student Association (BLSA), a leadership award has been established to provide financial assistance to students who exhibit academic success, leadership potential, a strong Christian commitment, and committed service to the African American community.

The award is offered to qualified students upon admission to law school. Award decisions are made upon admission, and are based upon LSAT score(s), undergraduate academic credentials, and a minimum 2.6 GPA, and leadership and community involvement as evidenced in the Application for Admission. Though the Law School reserves the use of discretion with all award considerations, the typical award parameters are as follows:

- 155 and above LSAT & 3.0 UGPA = $22,000 to full-tuition annually
- 150 to 154 LSAT & 3.0 UGPA = Up to $22,000 annually
- 147 to 149 LSAT & 3.0 UGPA = Up to $7,500 annually

Students qualifying for the full-tuition BLSA Scholarship may also be considered for the Regent Law Minority Scholarship Program, which includes a $2,000 stipend and an interview for a summer clerkship with a Norfolk, Virginia law firm contingent upon a satisfactory GPA following the fall semester.

Annual renewal of the award is maintained with a minimum 2.6 spring cumulative GPA, and committed outreach and active involvement with the African American community through BLSA activities or other community or professional associations. All law school awards are contingent on the student's adherence to the University's Honor Code and Standards of Personal Conduct and subject to the availability of funds and may be discontinued or revised at any time.
