John G. C. Miller Scholarship

A Regent University alumnus, who is a quadriplegic, established the John G. C. Miller Scholarship fund to honor her father. The goal of this scholarship is to assist other Regent students who have physical disabilities in meeting the tuition costs of attending Regent University.

The awards made from this fund are highly selective and the number, as well as the dollar amount of the awards, are limited and vary each year, depending upon the performance of the fund. Awards are made for one academic year at a time, with the award being effective beginning in the fall semester through the following summer term(s). To retain the award from one semester to the next, the student must maintain at least the minimum appropriate grade point average each term as defined in the University catalog as necessary to avoid being placed upon academic probation.

Awards offered are based upon a projected enrollment of at least six (6) credit hours per term in one of Regent's graduate or professional degree programs. If there is a variance from these projections, the award is subject to cancellation. Exceptions may be made to this projection of enrollment hours if it is the student's final term of enrollment where less than six credits are needed to graduate. More details will be provided to awardees when notified of selection.

Students must reapply each year. An application is required to be submitted each year by the published deadline for consideration of an award in a subsequent year. Previous recipients are not guaranteed renewal from one year to the next.
