Here is what some other International Alumni have said about their experiences at Regent:

Rebecca Ferriera, December 2008, School of Communication Graduate:

“Being away from your home country is a great experience. It widens your horizon and opens your mind to so many new things. I am thankful for having this opportunity and happy to be able to be living in the United States. Being able to interact with a different culture is priceless.”

Susan Sebastian, December 2008, School of Global Leadership and Entrepreneurship Graduate:

“It has been a wonderful time living here and meeting new people from all across the world. I come from a very busy city, Dubai, so coming here to Virginia Beach is a stark contrast. I enjoy the greenery, the climate, and above all the people in the United States. Ever since I have joined Regent, I have been blessed with a great cohort and loving friends.”

Jenise Allen, December 2008, School of Education Graduate:

“In May 2008, I walked across the stage of the Liberty Plaza one step closer towards my destiny. Psalm 37:4 says “Delight yourself in the Lord and He will give you the desires of your heart.” God honored His word by providing me with the exact job that I desired upon the completion of my studies. I am now a second grade inclusion special education teacher with the third largest public school system here in Virginia. The population of students that I get to work with on a daily basis is in answer to my prayers of years ago. I am very thankful and grateful for all the mentoring, support and encouragement that I received from my professors at Regent that truly helped me to be the special educators that I am today.”

Nobue Kunito, December 2009, School of Psychology and Counseling Graduate:

“I am grateful for the training I received at Regent. I feel more equipped to help people in their journey to be the person God created them to be.”

Bohyun “Abigail” Kim, December 2009, School of Law Graduate:

“For three months of staying at Regent, I have experienced the LORD who watches over aliens. (Psalm 146:9) …I have received so much blessing through many people, professors, students, OISS, ISO, church family, international students, Law school Women’s Bible study group, classmates, friends…… In my classes, I have been so challenged and blessed by all my classmates. My classmates seemed to be driven by one purpose to learn and absorb the material, and they contribute to the class to make it move into certain directions…….Through OISS, who became a friend to international students, including me, I have gotten so much help starting from settling down to grocery shopping, and thanks to their help to provide home-like atmosphere to international student, we got so much help to keep concentrating on our studies.”

Varsha Sherring, May 2010, School of Communication Graduate:

“OISS not only helps during transitional time of every international student but continues to provide assistance, counsel, and encouragement during the entire time that the student is at Regent. While it is at school that we get equipped to fulfill our academic and spiritual goals, it is at OISS that we get equipped to handle a new country and culture. Without the love, care and wisdom provided by OISS, our time at Regent would not have been half as awesome as it has been.”
Marina Kuzmina, May 2010, School of Psychology and Counseling Graduate:

“One of my favorite things about going to school in Virginia was having the oceanfront so near and being able to enjoy God’s beautiful and mighty creation. Coming from faraway Siberia, I was amazed at the sight of the great Atlantic Ocean. I have spent hours looking into the horizon, enjoying the waves, soaking up the sunshine, and having lots of fun with my friends and loved ones! Most importantly, during my time at Regent University, I gained valuable knowledge and experience for the work that God has called me to. My supervisors and mentors were always available to answer the questions and help guide me in the way the Lord has laid out for my life. I am very thankful to the OISS and the SPC for being such a great part of what God is doing in me and through me. I am so excited to be graduating in just a few weeks with a degree and a vision to minister to the nations of the world!”

Oluwole Oladele, May 2010, School of Government Graduate:

“I’ve been at Regent since August of 2008 and I actually feel much more educated, informed and equipped than I was before I came here. So, I guess the educational investment was useful…..Our mission as Christian leaders to change the world starts from right here on campus and we should take advantage of any opportunity we have to be servant-leaders.”

Enoch Charles, May 2011, School of Divinity Graduate:

“Apart from the terrific exposure I got as an international student into the American culture, academic and religious environment, Regent has been the place where the Lord Jesus really began to mold me and reveal Himself to me. The school and the supportive community conditioned my heart and mind so that I can press deeper in the knowledge of God and His only Son, Jesus Christ.”

Misha Joseph, May 2011, School of Communication Graduate:

“In my two years at Regent, I have not only grown by being exposed to different cultures and people but have also grown by loving and serving people. Regent has been a blessing to me and I am so glad to be a part of God’s chosen place.”

Camila Kwon, May 2011, School of Law Graduate:

“Studying in Regent has been just amazing. Honestly, everything was much better than my expectation. (Well, except that the weather has been a bit cold) Specially, I’m so grateful that I’ve met wonderful people and had chances to get to know them. Studying and living outside of my own country needed a lot of help that I wouldn’t ever thought I needed and people graciously provided help whenever I asked. People gave me rides, advised me regarding American culture, helped me to access law programs, and invited me for the various events. I wish I can repay that help when I go back to Korea by giving help to those who need it. I especially loved the fact that Regent people, especially law professors, are the followers who take their callings from God seriously. That affected me a lot in the way I see my relationship with God. I am so thankful that I spent a part of my life in Regent, and I’m sure that it will be long-lasting good memory.”

Stephen Levy, December 2011, School of Global Leadership and Entrepreneurship Graduate:

“ From the very first day it was evident that Regent practiced what they preached; that is, the Lord is at the center of each course, each class and at the core of its teachings. The professors used biblical principles to teach business, not simply saying a prayer before class. What a refreshing experience to learn how to use the teachings of the Lord practically.”
