On behalf of Regent University's School of Business and Leadership and the editorial board of the Journal of Biblical Perspectives in Leadership, I thank you for supporting the journal.

This issue continues our mission of exploring, engaging, and extending the field of knowledge and understanding of the phenomenon of leadership as found within the contexts of the Hebrew and Christian scriptures. The response to our recent Research Roundtables and the continued relevance of spirituality in workplace dynamics motivated us to explore the vital conversation of "Biblical Perspectives of Spirituality in Organizational Leadership."

Volume 2 of this issue includes articles examining resilience; Pauline leadership; servant and authentic leadership as seen in the Gospels; denominational organizational design; and spiritual formation in Christian higher education. This issue also explores human vocation in secular contexts.

The JBPL is impossible without the guidance and leadership from our respected reviewers and the visionary support of Dr. Gomez and Dr. Winston at the Regent University School of Business and Leadership.

Grace and peace in the name of Jesus Christ.

The Editorial Board

Representing a diverse group of scholars in biblical, social-science, historical, and leadership studies, from around the world, the JBPL editorial board aims to provide a much-needed multi-disciplinary and international perspective on current research and interest in Biblical perspectives in the study of leadership. Each member of our diverse editorial board has been selected because of their published research, practical experience, or focused interest in exploring leadership within the Christian Scriptures and its application in the many varied contexts worldwide.
