Watermark Psychological Services August 2021 - Present
819 W 21st St, Suite 200, Norfolk, VA, 23517

Position: Psychology Resident

Supervisor: Lisa Mazzio, Psy.D.

Responsibilities: Provide client-centered treatment, emphasizing personal agency in the process of healing. Clinical practice includes treatment of mood disorders, serious mental illness, and personality disorders, as well as those navigating the intersectionality of identities, specifically within the LGBTQ population, military, and Veteran poly-trauma and poly-substance use. Sessions are completed in-person and telemental health due to COVID-19 restrictions, which allowed for continuation of care.

Sheridan VA Health Care System July 2020 – July 2021

1898 Fort Rd, Sheridan, WY 82801

Outpatient Mental Health Clinic (Major Rotation)

Position: Psychology Predoctoral Intern

Supervisor: Robin Lipke, Ph.D.

Responsibilities: Provided trauma-informed individual and group psychotherapy to local Veterans with a wide range of diagnoses and comorbidities, including PTSD, depression, anxiety, personality disorders, substance use, relational difficulties, and homelessness. Sessions were completed in-person, via telephone and telemental health due to COVID-19 restrictions, which allowed for continuation of care. Provided consultation with multidisciplinary team members.

Assessment (Minor Rotation)

Position: Psychology Predoctoral Intern

Supervisor: Barbara Ziegler, Ph.D.

Responsibilities: Administered assessments with Veterans throughout the medical center, including outpatient mental health and integrated primary care mental health. Assessments included a broad array of neurocognitive, personality, organ transplantation, and PTSD assessments in accordance with the consultation request.

Acute Psychiatric Unit (Major Rotation)

Position: Psychology Predoctoral Intern

Supervisor: L. Kevin Woodrow, Ph.D.

Responsibilities: Provided rapid stabilization care often for Veterans on mental health holds or involuntary hospitalizations. This included risk assessments, diagnostic evaluation, psychological assessment, daily interdisciplinary team rounds, psychopharmacological interventions, and treatment and discharge planning. Provided individual treatment as well as led two weekly group therapy sessions centered on coping skills development for serious mental illness. The interdisciplinary treatment teams were composed of a psychologist, psychiatrist, social worker, pharmacist, dietitian, and nursing staff.

Primary Care Mental Health Integration / Chronic Pain Clinic (Minor Rotation)

Position: Psychology Predoctoral Intern

Supervisor: Seth Tippin, Psy.D.

Responsibilities: Collaborated with an interdisciplinary team, which included a variety of health care practitioners (nurses, physicians, and physical therapists) in assessing Veterans who have a variety of physiological conditions that either affect, or are affected by, mental disorders (e.g., chronic pain and transplantation evaluations). These assessments and the resulting recommendations served as guidance informing Veterans' primary care and/or surgical providers. The rotation included didactic meetings with various hospital staff addressing topics in clinical medicine, psychosomatic medicine, and selected conditions that have important behavioral and psychological facets (e.g., diabetes, heart disease, thyroid dysfunction, chronic pain, and dementia).

Mental Health Residential and Rehabilitation Treatment Program (Major Rotation)

Position: Psychology Predoctoral Intern

Supervisor: Leslie McGovern, Ph.D.

Responsibility: Provided treatment for Veterans within the PTSD and Co-occurring Disorders (PCOD) residential recovery program. Patients were most often diagnosed with PTSD and substance use disorders, along with mood disorders and suicidality/homicidality. Utilized multidisciplinary diagnostic evaluations, and assessed for PTSD via the CAPS and MMPI-2 or 2-RF. Provided individual PTSD therapy through Cognitive Processing Therapy and Prolonged Exposure. Facilitated various psycho-educational groups, psychopharmacological interventions, case management, recreational therapy, and developed and executed treatment and discharge planning. Provided long-term follow-on psychotherapy for Veterans who discharge to the Domiciliary for Homeless Veterans (DCHV) or outpatient clinic.

Treatment Development / Program Evaluation (Minor Rotation)

Position: Psychology Predoctoral Intern

Supervisor: Margaret Legarreta, Ph.D.

Responsibility: Developed a group psychotherapy protocol for the Cognitive Processing Therapy (CPT) residential treatment program LGBT Veteran cohort. The Sheridan Wyoming Veterans Affairs (VA) Healthcare System is the only known VA to offer an LGBT specific Cognitive Processing Therapy (CPT) residential treatment cohort, to which Veterans across the country travel to attend. Designed and created a supplemental group therapy curriculum that addresses LGBT specific concerns, incorporating APA LGBT best practices, and related them to CPT topics and themes in order to create a clearer link between LGBT best practices and the CPT modality of care.

Diagnostic Intakes (Entire Internship)

Position: Psychology Predoctoral Intern

Supervisor: Robin Lipke, Ph.D., L. Kevin Woodrow, Ph.D., Leslie McGovern, Ph.D.

Responsibility: Diagnostic intakes were a consistent responsibility throughout the internship year, and were supervised by the major rotation supervisors. Performed thorough diagnostic/biopsychosocial intake assessments for Veterans who are new to the facility or who had not been seen for mental health services in over two years. This provided an opportunity to improve and expand diagnostic skills, perform a thorough and efficient chart review, and expand skill set in professional intake report writing. Post-intake, placed appropriate consultation requests for care (e.g., psychotherapy, psychiatry services, substance use disorder treatment) or provided care for those Veterans while on the outpatient mental health rotation.

Master's Thesis, Old Dominion University

May 2006

Title: Factors of paternal involvement and their association with developmental outcomes of nine-month olds

Position: Principal Investigator

Chair: Barbara Winstead, Ph.D.

Committee Members: Jim Bliss, Ph.D., James Paulson, Ph.D., Janis Sanchez, Ph.D.

Responsibilities: Investigated the types of paternal involvement in early-childhood and the effects on child development. Analyzed data from the Early Childhood Longitudinal Study –Birth Cohort (ECLS-B), a large-scale, longitudinal study designed to provide detailed information about children's early life experiences and was funded by the U.S. Department of Education through the National Center for Educational Statistics (NCES). Performed an Exploratory Factor Analysis conducted on the ECLS-B Resident Father Questionnaire which resulted in a six-factor structure, then tested the relationship between these factors and the Bayley Short Form-Research Edition (BSF-R) Mental and Motor Scale scores as well as the Nursing Child Assessment Teaching Scale (NCATS). The Bayley Motor Scale score was associated with the paternal involvement factor One-on-one Play. This finding is especially interesting considering there is little published literature connecting paternal involvement and physical development in infants.
