

REGENT UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
ASSIGNED STUDY CARRELS POLICY AND REQUEST FORM

POLICY

Carrels 125-150 on the second floor General Collections area are available to be reserved to current Regent students in good standing with the library for a period of one semester.

Law students should consult with Law Library staff if desiring a study carrel in the Law Library. A maximum of six (6) carrels per semester on a space available basis will be allocated for current law students. All assignments are at the discretion of the Circulation staff.

- If your request is approved, you may check out 25 library books to your carrel provided you leave them in the library on your carrel. Each book will need a yellow charge slip.
- Yellow charge slips must be filled out by a library employee at the circulation desk. Please keep the charge slip visible in your book or it will be returned to the shelf.
- Please note that Regent Library items checked out to your personal account may be left in your study carrel, but you MUST have your library receipt visible in the book.
- Reference books and library journals should be used in the Reference area on the first floor, not brought to the carrel.
- Regent University Library is not responsible for any personal items left at the carrel. Leave At Your Own Risk!
- When finished with the checked out books, please return them to Circulation to be checked in and your account cleared.
