

RESEARCH ROUNDTABLES

REGENT UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF BUSINESS & LEADERSHIP

From the Editors
Dr. Steve Firestone and Dr.
Brian Moore
2025

The Research Roundtables comprise the official proceedings of the Regent University School of Business & Leadership Research Roundtables, which provide a scholarly forum for research in business and leadership studies. Participation in the Research Roundtables is determined through a peer-review selection process. Inclusion in the published proceedings follows an additional editorial review, with each roundtable chair selecting articles that align with the scope, style, and structure of a proceedings publication.

In addition to presentations of empirical studies, the Roundtable format allows presenters to discuss new concepts, possible future research topics, consulting methods, new teaching methods, and panel discussions of topics that are of interest to our academic communities. This year's conversations are particularly focused on the intersection of rapid technological innovation—including artificial intelligence, robotics, and emerging technologies—with timeless biblical principles of stewardship, servant leadership, and human dignity.

The contributions in these proceedings represent diverse perspectives and approaches, yet share a common commitment to integrating faith with scholarship and practice. We hope these ideas will inspire your own thinking, inform your research and teaching, and equip you to lead with wisdom and purpose in your organizations and communities. May the insights shared here contribute to the ongoing dialogue about how Christ-centered leadership can shape a future marked by genuine human flourishing.
